S. S. S. Fills Out Hollow Cheeks, Thin Limbs!

C. B. Q.
Stops any cold in 24 hours
HILL'S CASCARA QUININE

Men and women—whether you will feel good or not depends on the number of blood-cells in your blood. That's all there is to it. It's a scientific fact that if you have a cold, and you're getting right, you will be run-down, thin, your blood will be in disorder, and perhaps you'll have to be broken out with pimples, blackheads and eruptions. S. S. S. keeps your blood-cell factory working full time. It helps build up thin, run-down people; it puts firm flesh on your bones, it rounds out your face, arms, neck, limbs and whole body. It takes the "pink" out of your cheeks. It takes the hollowness from your eyes, and it feels Father Time by smoothing out wrinkles. Men and women by getting them up, S. S. S. is a remarkable blood-purifier. While you are getting plump, your skin eruptions, pimples, blackheads and other small blemishes are being removed. The medicinal ingredients of S. S. S. are guaranteed purely vegetable. S. S. S. is the all-time store size. The larger size is the more economical.

Teacher at 12EIGHTEEN STATES TO VOTE BEER, WET SAYS

CLEVELAND, Jan. 26—"Eighteen states are organized, ready for the big smash for beer and light wines in the next congressional elections," Fred W. Marconin, organizer of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, Inc., told the United Press today.

Of the list, Marconin declared Ohio, Texas, New Jersey, Michigan and Illinois were the states in which the most strenuous battle for beer and light wines were centered.

Speakers are now touring the country in the interests of the campaign.

BURNED WIFE ALIVE; CHARGE ON UTAH MAN

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Jan. 26.—Preliminary hearing in the case of Ormai R. Woods, charged with first degree murder for the alleged slaying of his wife Marietta, whose dead body was found, bound and gagged and burned to a crisp on a furnishing bed in their apartment on Jan. 8, was scheduled to continue at 10 a. m. this morning in Judge Fred W. Crockett's division of the city court.

State Chemist Herian Harms is expected to testify today that he examined the contents of the dead woman's stomach for evidence of poison and that the analysis showed the stomach absolutely free from any poison.

Three Minute Journeys
By Temple ManningWHERE A PLANT IS FOOD AND DRINK.

One of the finest shooting grounds in the world for big game is in the heart of South Africa—the Kalahari desert! So plentiful is game that hunting is the sole occupation of the Bushmen or Hottentots.

The Hottentots, who are the wild men of the desert, collect skins and feathers while they tend their small herds. These men make the best guides for the sportsmen.

However, very few hunters brave this desert, because there is no water. Only a thunder shower will fill one of the so-called "hans" or flat stretches of sand which hold water a few hours. These "pans" are thought to be the beds of ancient lakes. Owing to the chemical properties of the sand, the pure rain water swiftly becomes so brackish and alkaline that it is unfit to drink.

But the salt of rain is not without benefit, even if it is disappointing to the thirsty explorer who dashes up to the glistening water only to find it is salty as the sea. Wherever water falls upon the parched earth there immediately springs up a profuse vegetation.

It is thought that water is very near the surface of the Kalahari desert, and that by drilling artesian wells and irrigating, this waste land will be admirably adapted to the raising of cattle, ostriches and goats.

Among the plants which grow in profusion in this almost instantaneous vegetation is the tsama. The fruit it bears is like a small melon, the size of our cantaloupe. But it tastes more like a cucumber than a melon, and the flavor is flat and insipid.

But more precious than gold or silver or the finest hide is the tsama in this desert, which is half the size of England. For the pulp is very nourishing, and can be used as a food by both men and beasts.

But infinitely more important than the nourishing qualities of this manna-like fruit is the life-saving quality of its juice. The juice is absolutely satisfying as a drink.

There is in the Kalahari desert, where there is no water, this little plant springs up over night out of an arid soil in the sands of a searching desert, and it provides the in-
